WELCOME HOME!

From Our Adjutant and Service Officer:

I am the adjutant and service officer for the post this year. The adjutant takes the minutes of each meeting and handles correspondence as directed by the commander. Post service officers usually are not certified so don't have access to all the data the certified service officers have. But we can help veterans with paperwork for claims or getting copies of their DD214, etc. Claims are forwarded to a certified service officer for the actual filing. We are fortunate in Clallam Country to have two full time service officers at the Northwest Veterans Resource Center. You can contact me via the post phone 360.683.9546.

Steve Henrikson, Adjutant

Your Post Trustees:

The importance of accurate accounting and monitoring of finances is essential to the health of any non-profit organization. Mismanagement of funds can quickly lead to the loss of the charter. The role of the post trustees includes monthly review of the money flow in and out of the post. Accountability and oversight of each dollar spent and received is handled by three post trustees. Three sets of eyes on each dollar help prevent accounting errors, misuse, or questionable fund transfers. Our post has had this happen in the past when scrutiny was lax. We are determined to prevent that from happening again. Recently our post received a significant donation from the estate of Lt. Colonel Minsky which makes the trustee's role even more critical.

Neil Gamroth, Trustee
